

THE BOURBON NEWS.

PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY IN THE YEAR

VOLUME XXXI.

PARIS, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1912

Big Reduction On All LOW SHOES

Beginning This Week We Will Reduce all HANNAN and NETTLETON OXFORDS, and also Ladies' Pumps and oxfords.

We have a great many WHITE SHOES and PUMPS in Nubuck and Canvas that will be greatly reduced. These will be for CASH ONLY.

GEO. McWILLIAMS,

Phones 301

The Shoe Man

HOT WEATHER SPECIALS

Boiled Ham
Minced Ham
Dried Beef
Bologna
Imported Swiss Cheese
Brick Cheese
Pimento Cheese
New York Cheese
Water Melons and Cantaloupes on Ice.

BLUE RIBBON FLOUR

25-lb Sack.....80c
50-lb Sack.....$1.60
100-lb Sack.....$3.20

T. C. LENIHAN,

Cash Grocery.

Both Phones 234

New Fall Hats!

In all the latest colors and shapes, included are

Imported Velour

Boys' School Suits, Caps and Odd Pants.

PRICE & CO. Clothiers
and Furnishers

Surrounded in Field Negro Surrenders.

Surrounded by a sheriff's posse composed of twenty-five men, armed with shotguns, and finding resistance useless before such overwhelming odds, Mack Jones, colored, charged with the murder of Murray Jones, also colored, Tuesday afternoon, surrendered to the authorities after employing clever tactics to effect his escape from the cornfield on the farm of Mr. Hal Woodford, on the Winchester pike at the edge of town, in which he had concealed himself following the killing.

The information concerning the location of Jones was obtained through the capture of a colored boy who had been carrying meals to the negro in the field. The boy was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff J. O. Marshall, after he had received information that the boy was seen to enter the field from the negro suburb, of Claysville. At first he denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of the fugitive, but later gave the officers the desired information and the posse was immediately formed and a strong guard thrown around the field to prevent his escape.

The officers sent for the bloodhounds of Captain Mullikin, in Lexington, and it was their intention to turn them into the field, but the negro was taken before the arrival of the dogs. Jones was said to be heavily armed and it was reported that he had said he would not surrender without a battle. When taken into custody he was without a weapon.

Shortly after the arrival of a number of the posse, Jones, seeing himself in a dangerous position, perhaps thought escape would be better than a battle and was evidently concealed in the corn a short distance from the road, when the men arrived. Stationing themselves on the west side of the cornfield, some distance apart, a close watch was kept by the members of the posse and the negro, thinking, perhaps, there was no guard in the road, made an attempt to escape, which would have been successful had not Deputy Sheriff Ernest Martin with an automobile containing several armed men, put in his appearance, the moment the negro made the dash for the road.

The men in the automobile saw the movement, and the negro took refuge under a clump of bushes in the corner of the field. He was covered by half a dozen shotguns and ordered to come out. He protested his innocence, and claimed he was not the man wanted, and said he had left him concealed in the field only a few minutes before. However, he was landed in jail, and witnesses to the shooting were secured, who identified him as the man who murdered Murray Jones. Later he admitted having fired the fatal shot. He was taken before Judge Denis Dundon and his examining trial set for Monday morning.

The killing, of which Jones is accused, occurred Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock, in Griffith's woods, in the southeastern suburb of Paris, and was the result of a difficulty over a game of cards. A number of negroes were in the game, which was being played for money and according to eye witnesses to the affair, was entirely unprovoked on the part of the murdered man.

The victim, it is said, took the place of Jones, who had retired from the game, and was playing cards with several companions. Jones, returning, demanded his place but his remarks were not heeded, and without warning he fired the contents of a shotgun into the side of his victim, who was kneeling on the ground.

After the shooting the gun was handed to a man who took it to the home of Betty Scott, in Claysville, who was told to sell it and keep the proceeds. The negro who did the shooting left the scene with his companions.

The charge from the gun took effect in the groin of the victim, and when found was helpless. He was suffering intense pain, but gave the officers a description of the man who fired the shot. The injured man was removed to the home of a colored woman in Claysville where he died Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock.

It is said the negro murderer had previously killed a man at a construction camp on the L. and N. He is well known in police circles, having been arrested recently after a desperate fight with Patrolman Fred Link, during which the officer used his club freely in an effort to subdue him.

Coroner Rudolph Davis will hold an inquest tomorrow morning, and a number of witnesses having been summoned who were eye-witnesses to the affair. The remains of the negro were buried in the Paris colored cemetery yesterday morning.

Paris Boy Killed by Train.

Elmer Smith, of this city, aged 18 years, was killed at Butler at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning when he fell beneath the wheels of a freight train which it is believed he attempted to board. The news of his death reached his family in this city Tuesday morning.

Smith, who was the son of Mrs. Ida Smith, resided on Fifteenth street, in this city, had been employed with a section crew on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, was en route to Covington to visit relatives and with a view of securing employment for the winter. At Butler he alighted from the train and was not seen again until his mangled remains were found by a switchman.

It is the opinion that in attempting to board the train he fell beneath the wheels and was ground to death. His brother, George Smith, an engineer on the L. & N., was notified of the accident, and the family went to Covington Tuesday night, where the remains had been taken to the home of a brother residing in that city.

"WE KNOW HOW"

The "Who-Made-Them-For-You"
Kind of Clothes

They excite the flattering comment of your friends—the homage men pay to style and fit.

Our Clothes—have that look—the expensive tailor look—and they cost no more than ordinary clothes bought elsewhere.

Particularly seasonable styles for fall wear. Try one to-day.

Mitchell & Blakemore,

Outfitters to Men

Paris, Kentucky

FRANK & CO'S

The Store Where Reliability Reigns.

Inimitable

Autumn

Conceits

YOU have never seen such an extraordinary and charming gathering of Autumn suits, dresses and coats as we are now displaying.

The styles, with [the many distinctive novelties they embody, will measure up to your most critical desires. Paris modes are brought to your door.

FRANK & CO.,

Paris, - - Kentucky